I. INTRODUCTION

- A. This syllabus focuses on Intermediate Turkish II, emphasizing speaking, comprehension and reading skills. In this course, students will have survival proficiency and learn to express themselves in Turkish, concentrating on speaking and reading. This syllabus is designed to prepare students to speak at intermediate middle and high level in the proficiency scale in reading and speaking at the end of the course. The ACTFL Guidelines describes the intermediate speakers as: "In this level, speakers begin to take on some of the characteristic of the advance range of proficiency. They are able to handle uncomplicated communicative task and social situation. But, they are unable to sustain performance at high level during the course of the interview and, therefore, do not meet the minimal threshold characteristics for the advance level. The intermediate-high level speakers are even intelligible for native speakers who are not accustomed to deal with speakers, but repetition may still be required."
- B. This course may be used to fulfill language requirements as outlined in your degree plan. Please check your degree plan to determine the status of this course in your program of study. It may be counted for credit towards the undergraduate language requirement and the Turkish minor in Near Eastern Languages and Culture graduate degrees.
- C. This course is occupationally related and serves as preparation for careers in education, international business and many other occupations.
- D. Prerequisite(s): TURKISH 1411, TURKISH 1412, TURKISH 2311 with a course grade of at least a "C".

III. INSTRUCTIONAL MATERIALS

The instructional materials identified for this course are viewable through http://www.ctcd.edu/im/im_main.asp

IV. COURSE REQUIREMENTS:

A. Reading Assignments:

The aim will be to master the basic communicative skills and the fundamentals of Turkish grammar. In this course, we will work through the materials, using various extra resources. The students are expected to prepare for class daily by reading all grammar explanations assign for that day. Assignments will include daily homework and a weekly notebook check of exercises and grammar.

B. Projects, Oral Reports, Case Studies, Book Reports, Research Papers:

The exercises should be done in a standard composition notebook. Listening exercises and outside materials will be provided by the instructor at various times during the course. A summary of grammatical concepts learned throughout the semester should be kept in a separate composition notebook, and will be graded twice during the course. You must own (and put to good use) an approved English-Turkish/Turkish-English dictionary.

C. Intensive Beginning Turkish Notebook Rules

The notebook assignment consists of two parts. The first part is all of the exercises assigned during the courses which will be collected weekly (Thursdays and returned on Friday) and graded in the notebook. The second part is a summary of all the grammar you learn during the course. Some students do one part in each half of one notebook, while others get two notebooks. You are creating a summary of all you have learned in Intermediate Turkish II, so accuracy and neatness are golden. You can decorate, embellish, use color markers, use page tabs, or whatever helps you steer through the notebook

D. Class Performance:

In any language class, class participation is crucial to learning. All missed work must be made up, but there will be no make-up for surprise quizzes.

E. Class Participation:

Two excused absences are allowed with advanced warning or with proper documentation after the absence. After that, and in the case of unexcused absences, absences will hurt your final grade. Class participation, reading, listening, notebook assignments, Discussion/Voice Boards, Voice Emails, Live Classroom, weekly quizzes, oral and narrative, will help students to measure their progress. As students acquire multiple skills in speaking of the present and past, they will learn to manipulate basic sentence patterns through drills, team competitions and games. Materials, such as videos, cartoons, short stories, proverbs, photographs, brochures, simple poems, newspaper articles, and CDs will correlate learning with doing.

V. EXAMINATIONS

- A. Full attendance and active class participation are essential to success in any language course. There will be daily assignments, notebook assignments, weekly quizzes, Midterm and Final exams.
- B. A student must be present for all examinations. No make-up examinations will be given. Students who know in advance they will be absent from an examination due to valid reasons, must arrange to take an early examination if allowed by the instructor. Unexpected absences due to illness or extenuating circumstances require the student to see the instructor about individual make-up work in lieu of the missed examination. One exam maximum per semester may be allowed to be made due to valid reasons.
- C. Students without excused absences will be given a zero for the examination missed. There will be no make-up for surprise quizzes.
